Tell Your Member of Congress to Support FAA Reauthorization

July 13, 2023

ASTA Members:

This year, for the first time since 2018, Congress will reevaluate federal aviation policy through the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) reauthorization process.

The House version of the FAA reauthorization bill, the Securing Growth and Robust Leadership in American Aviation Act (H.R. 3935), was approved in committee in June with several of ASTA’s priorities included. As soon as next week, the bill will move to the House floor, and we want a strong show of support — your Representative needs to hear from you! Call or email your Member of Congress through our grassroots portal:

Tell your U.S. House Representative to support the FAA Reauthorization bill

When ASTA Legislative Day attendees took to Capitol Hill in June, they successfully met with more than 200 congressional offices to advocate for this legislation. Let's keep the momentum going.

Please contact your U.S. House Representative through the grassroots portal and ask them to support the FAA reauthorization bill when it comes to the House floor. As always, personal letters are more compelling – please take a moment to edit the sample letter to reflect your own experiences.

If you have any questions, please contact us at govtaffairs@asta.org. Thank you!
